

Henry Ford Health

Henry Ford Health Scholarly Commons

Pulmonary and Critical Care Medicine Articles

Pulmonary and Critical Care Medicine

9-1-2022

Artist's Statement: Sanitized

Rana Awdish

Henry Ford Health, rawdish1@hfhs.org

Follow this and additional works at: https://scholarlycommons.henryford.com/pulmonary_articles

Recommended Citation

Awdish R. Artist's Statement: Sanitized. Acad Med 2022; 97(9):1317.

This Article is brought to you for free and open access by the Pulmonary and Critical Care Medicine at Henry Ford Health Scholarly Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in Pulmonary and Critical Care Medicine Articles by an authorized administrator of Henry Ford Health Scholarly Commons.

Cover Art

Artist's Statement: Sanitized

I completed my piece Sanitized, on the cover of this issue, following a full year of the COVID-19 pandemic and our collective struggle to learn to bear witness to invisible things.

Inspired by the intangibility of the suffering to those who were not directly facing COVID-19, I painted the figure to convey a kind of invisibility. The deaths that occurred in hospitals and nursing homes were viscerally unknowable in that they were removed from the lived experiences of families. The difficulty of mourning losses that happened in those closed wards contributed to my depiction of the figure as a kind of ephemeral, liquid ghost.

Physical touch was so absent for so many that year. To represent that lack of tangible connection, there is an elision of physical form. In the blankness of her stare, there is an awareness that she is not fully known.

Sanitized

In terms of my medium choice, in the early days of the pandemic, local distilleries were making hand sanitizer instead of producing alcohol, and that sense of repurposing for utility lead me to want to repurpose hand sanitizer for art. I was gesturing toward both our ability and the very human need to find beauty and meaning in difficult events by using what is directly available to us. I also felt a congruence between the rapid evaporation of the medium and our lives as very limited periods within which we can express ourselves.

Rana Awdish, MS, MD

R. Awdish is senior staff physician, Department of Pulmonary and Critical Care Medicine, Henry Ford Hospital, Detroit, Michigan; rawdish1@hfhs.org.